Company Letterhead & Company Description

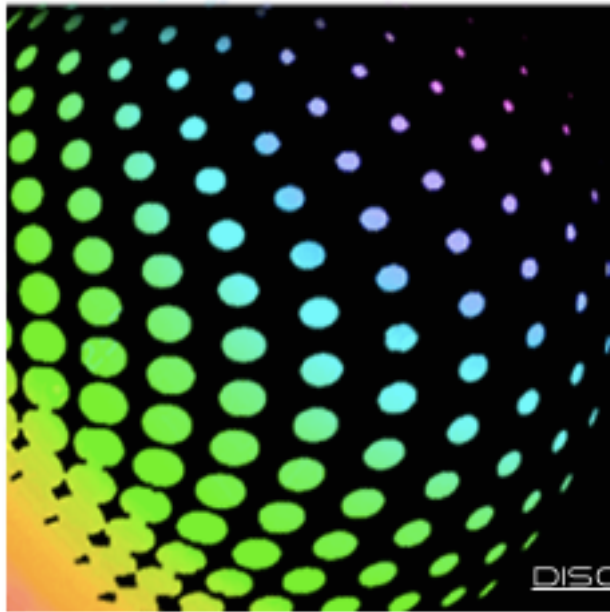

Our company DISCOVR provides virtual reality experiences. We sell and rent goggles as well as software for various bucket list items and custom memorable experiences. The market needs a place where you can rent and buy goggles and software to achieve an experience not available to you before. By giving people the opportunity to rent our goggles and software, we allow people to save money when purchasing our product, as well as if they buy bundles of software. In addition, goggles are a one time purchase, compatible with all of our software. We receive goggles from a manufacturer who makes virtual reality goggles. Our software includes adventures such as skydiving in exotic places or emotional experiences such as re-experiencing a special day in your life. In addition, we would also create software to allow people to live stream and be apart of events around the world, for example Coachella. Our software has the ability to be downloaded onto your computer or phone through USB or authentication codes through our DISCOVR app. Our company solves the problem of many people who want to experience thrills that they were too fearful to experience before. By using our virtual reality software, people can cross off those items on their bucket list they thought would be there forever. Get ready to make discoveries with DISCOVR!
