Company Letterhead

We are a Helping Hand, what we do is unlike any other firm, we send people on short-term volunteer trips that double as fun and safe vacations. This helps people learn a new culture while helping people who are in need. As a company we have a few key goals. The main one is to allow people to help other people. Another goal is to make them have an excellent vacation that is both fulfilling and thrilling. Our last goal is to enrich them culturally and allow them to learn some new things. To recognize our trips you will recognize they are all safe, will have cultural diversity and most importantly help lend a hand to communities who were devastated by unfortunate circumstances.
