

Company
Branding

Logo

The logo is an integral part of how our company is branded, being that it is the first thing most people will associate with our company. The logo is a globe surrounded by multiple hands of different ethnicities, representing how we bring people of all backgrounds together in the name of volunteer work. The planes represent the vacation aspect of our products, and like our packages, the logo brings together everything to create the best possible experience.

We're A Helping Hand, and we develop short-term volunteer programs in environments that encourage people to immerse themselves as a unique way of giving back. As a company, our goal is to promote cultural awareness and sustainability. Cultural Awareness is the foundation of communication and involves the ability to stand back from ourselves and become aware of our cultural values, beliefs and perceptions. Sustainability is helping others and teaching them real world skills they can use to help improve their quality of life even after our volunteer service is finished. Our trips have several criteria: to promote safety, keep you culturally interested, and make a genuine positive impact on the host community. This experience is a change from everyday life and will immerse you into a new world.
