OBLIVION PRODUCTION

Our Safety Pins use our in-house drug testing technology that's as easy to implement as painting it onto a pin. In fact, the pins are just the start for our amazing paint: the applications are open beyond consumers, such as in law enforcement and academia. It allows the corporate customer to effectively test for common date-rape drugs without spending potentially thousands on equipment. It's also very portable, too: our smallest pin can fit on a keychain, making it available to you just about anywhere. At Oblivion, we run a very efficient manufacturing process. We can scale to very large amounts of demand with a day's notice (in fact, we take orders in excess of 10,000 units with very short turnaround already). For whatever purpose you may have, consumer or enterprise, Oblivion is here to meet your needs.
